Safe Driving Tips

Do you drive a vehicle?

Your worst nightmare could be right around the corner. According to the National Safety Council, two-thirds of accidents were at least partially caused by a driver error while traveling on highways. Let's avoid being the driver contributing to negative statistics.

As a driver, it is your responsibility to continuously evaluate and recognize accident producing situations. Safe driving practices are the key to preventing or minimizing accidents.

Here are some safe driving tips to exercise while operating your vehicle:

- Pre-plan your travel route by studying a map or getting directions. If you are traveling along an unfamiliar route, schedule a little extra time into the trip. Consider such things as: weather conditions; known traffic hazards; congested areas; and the type of roadway.
- Buckle-up. Always use your seat belt. Obey all traffic laws and don't exceed the speed limit. Your performance as an employee counts behind the wheel too!
- Evaluate the traffic conditions all around you. Be prepared to adjust your speed accordingly. Keep your eyes on the road and be attentive. Always be prepared for possible obstructions, slowing or stopping vehicles, or pedestrians who may run or step into the traffic lanes. Use two-way radios and cellular telephones minimally. If a lengthy or detailed conversation begins, pull over to the side of the road and stop the vehicle, or offer to return the call once you get to your destination. Remember that driving safely is the priority...not talking on the phone!
- Adjust mirrors before your trip and use them often to monitor the traffic around you. Know your vehicles blind spots, and take them into consideration when making any move.
- Don't tailgate. Allow adequate maneuvering space. Leave enough room to react to the unexpected. Do not create a situation that allows yourself and other drivers to be "trapped." Be considerate and signal your turning or braking intentions early.

It's your choice to operate a vehicle safely. Practice safe driving everyday. Make every trip an uneventful one!
